What's New in the PHLUMX?

I've been using the Adobe Premiere Elements for more than a decade now and I can safely say that this is the better editor for home users. However, it never managed to become even as close to a perfect professional video editor as the Final Cut Pro X. That's why I am trying to find a free alternative for Final Cut. I've tried Adobe Premiere Elements video editor before and didn't like it much, so I hoped that a new one called PHLUMX would be a close match. The interface isn't as intuitive as I would like it to be and some of the tools need a bit of practicing. This video editor is still in an early stage and is getting better with time as it gives you more options to edit your videos, but if you are looking to create YouTube videos and other online content, you should start working with something more known and professional. Q: Parsing raster with SAS (and converting to text) with data that has space in it I need to convert a raster with specific information into text. The problem is that there is space between each row. When I try to convert it into SAS with the following code the space does not get converted. `proc sds_rtext data=sds_tif (in=sds_tif in_out=sds_tif_out varname=data) ; VAR ID_MIX_FISCHER_71521_TEST 0000001.000002.000003.000004.000005.000006.000007.08801.41111.900018.900019.900000. Is there a way to convert this into text? A: You are running into the specific space handling behavior in proc sds. You can probably get around it if you adjust your regular expression, but (as a relatively untrained observer of SAS data visualization) it doesn't`
